The Queensland Seafood Industry Association (QSIA) used the experience of local commercial fishers, wholesalers and retailers to determine serving sizes.

- The average serve size was estimated at 150g. This was based on restaurant and retail fish and chip businesses and typical serving sizes. QSIA also examined the Heart Foundation and Queensland Health recommend between 100g and 150g serves.
- QSIA also obtained advice from retail and wholesale businesses with respect to product retention rates with an average rate of 60% being applied.
